Religious Observances Policy / 2023

Topolino Private School (including Topolino Pre-Primary)

Topolino is a Christian private school that has the Bible as foundation. The school's values and goals are inseparable from the Christian faith.

We recognise the dignity and uniqueness of each learner. The school does not discriminate against any other religions. Parents are required to inform the school of the family's faith on the application form.

All learners of Topolino Private School are required to attend Bible periods and maintain their Bible workbooks according to the school's curriculum. Bible lessons are presented in class context. Character development supports the school's Bible syllabus and is focused on:

Respect, Fairness, Responsibility and Honesty

All meetings – parent meetings, assemblies, cultural, academic and sporting events – shall be presented within the Christian ethos. During such events Christian spiritual leaders from the community may be invited to participate. They are required to support this Religious Observance Policy and undertake not to promote any denominational church dogma during the events.

Before personnel are appointed, they are presented with the school's Religious Observances Policy.

Topolino Private School has the right to make staff appointments and accept learners in line with our Christian ethos.

The Topolino Private School revises policies as needs may arise.
